

♥ Brummel Farms Fresh Produce and Pumpkins ♥

The start of the stand

Brummel Farms Fresh Produce and Pumpkins began with a simple dream and a lot of hard work. From the very beginning, Joe and Tiffany Brummel decided to build something together—something that grew straight from the ground and from their dedication. Every seed that's planted is started by hand, carefully nurtured, and then transplanted into the fields one by one.

What makes Brummel Farms special is not just the produce, but the way it's shared. Joe and Tiffany have always trusted in the honor system, allowing customers to pick out what they'd like and pay with honesty.

That trust has never been broken, and it's become one of the most meaningful parts of the farm.

Over the years, Brummel Farms has grown into more than just a place to buy homegrown produce and pumpkins—it's become a place where community, honesty, and hard work come together. Joe and Tiffany are so thankful for every single customer who has supported them, year after year, and they wouldn't want to change a single thing.
